COLOR CLASS

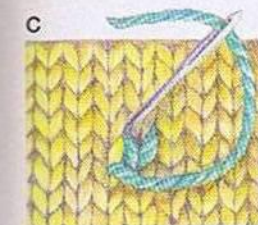

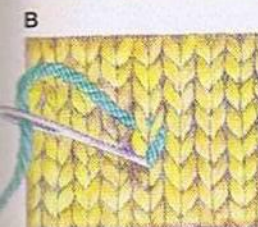

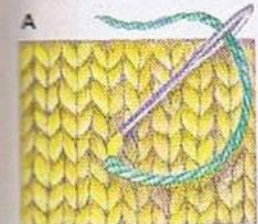

EXPAND YOUR KNITTING KNOWLEDGE

Large blocks of colorwork, such as the body of the cat, (#35) or the boat (#36) are best done in intarsia. In this method, blocks of color are worked with separate balls of yarn. The yarns are not carried across the back of the work between color changes, just twist the ends around each other at each color change to prevent holes in your work.

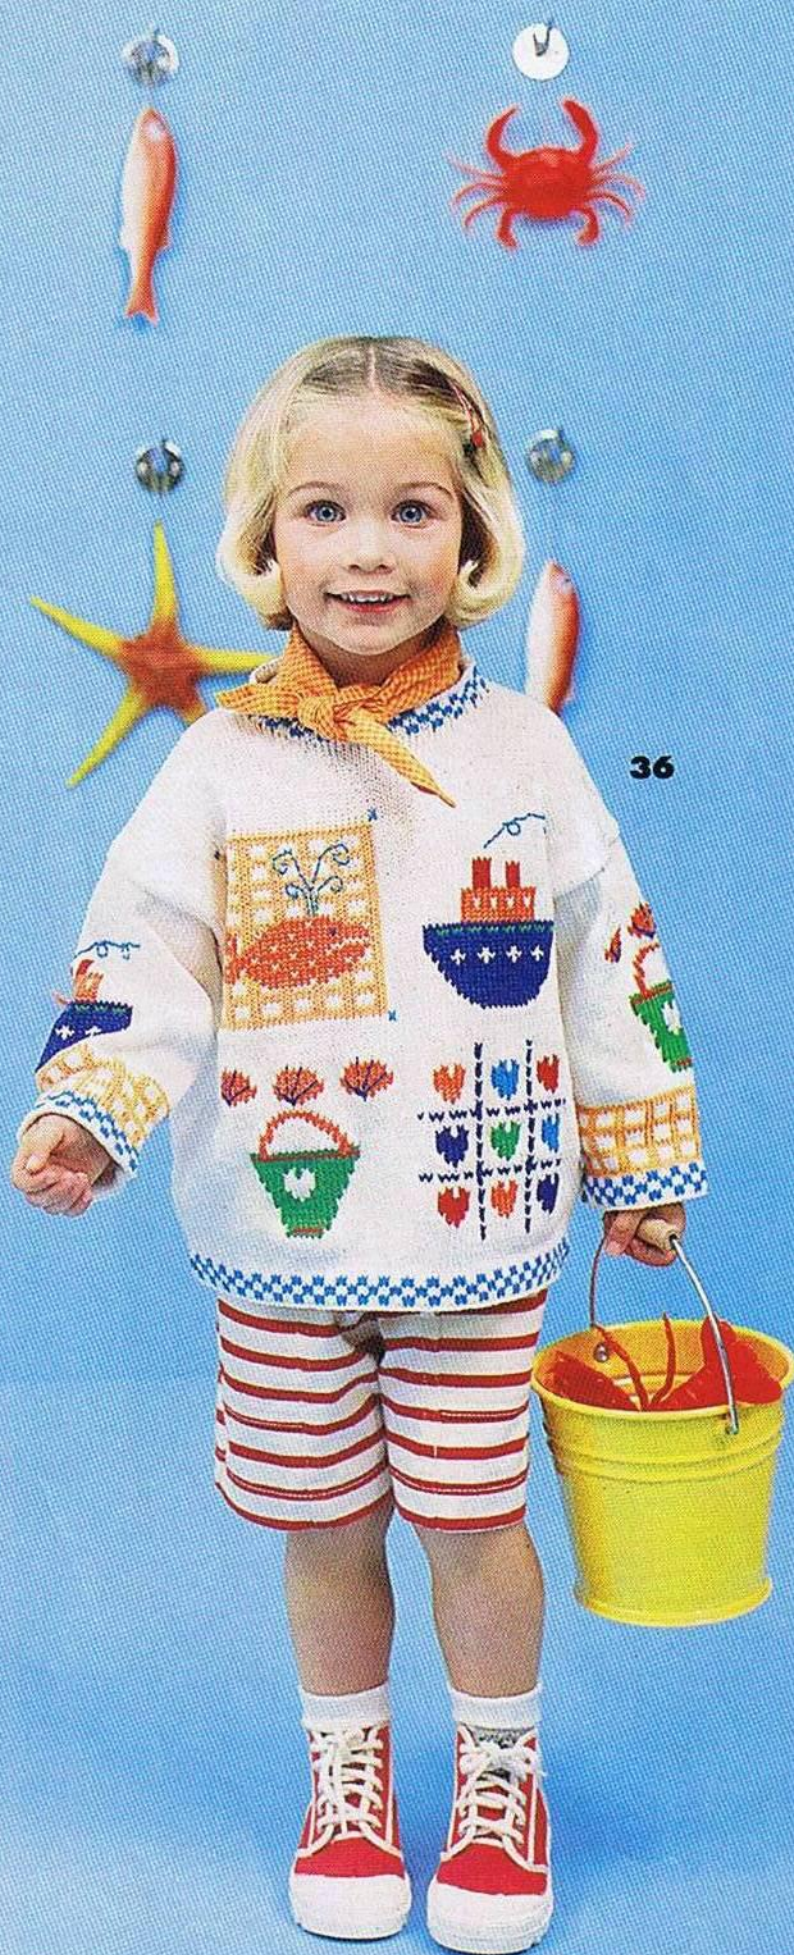

For small motifs that repeat across the garment, such as those in the patterned bands, use the Fair Isle technique. With this style of knitting, usually done in stockinette, you can work a multicolored pattern, but no more than two colors are used in a single row. The yarns are carried loosely across the back of your work along the entire row.

Duplicate stitch is used for outlining and fine details, such as the cat's eyes and nose (#35) or the game grid (#36), and is worked after the knitting is completed. This stitch is "embroidered" over a knit stitch in another color, covering the previous stitch. To begin, thread an 18"/45cm length of yarn through the eye of a blunt tapestry or darning needle (a too-sharp point will split stitches). Weave the tail of the yarn through a few stitches on the wrong side of the knitting to anchor it in place. Bring the needle up below the stitch to be covered at the base of the "V." (A) Re-insert the needle under both the loops one row above and pull it through. (B) Insert the needle back into the base of the same stitch and through to the center of the next stitch in one motion. (C) Continue in this manner until all desired stitches are covered. Weave the end through several stitches on the wrong side and trim.
